LEGAL PROGRAM: In terms of litigation and policy advocacy, we have also seen significant progress, with key highlights detailed below: Our intersectional lawsuit challenging the rollback of the full array of nondiscrimination protections under Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act was allowed to proceed despite government calls for it to be dismissed, even as other, more narrow suits were dismissed. It was only recently briefly stayed to allow the new administration time this spring to propose new regulations to replace those gutted by the Trump administration. This suit has been essential for keeping pressure on to restore protections. In our advocacy to EndTransDetention, we collaborated with the firm Ballard Spahr to file Freedom of Information Act lawsuits, following up on multiple FOIA requests to which we had not received responses. (Cont'd at Schedule O)

BLACK LGBTQIA+ MIGRANT PROJECT: BLMP was in the midst of a successful leadership transition, with one co-leader remaining and a new co-leader hired. We added a Digital Organizer to support national and local base-building as well as recruitment and leadership development efforts. We have sustained and continued to develop our Malaika Network, a stipended group of 10 (40% of whom are based in California) formerly detained and/or undocumented community members who receive training and support deportation defense. The Malaika Network will build BLMP's capacity to engage in deportation defense on behalf of our community members in detention, including reducing their isolation, launching organizing and fundraising campaigns to get them out, and providing support post-detention. We have grown our Bay Area, Houston, NYC, and Minneapolis Network by establishing a local leadership structure, hosting regular membership meetings, participating in local community-building events, and engaging members in leadership development opportunities We built on the success of our pilot Fierce Freedom School in 2020 a two-month, weekly virtual political education and leadership development program for 14 U.S.-born and migrant Black trans women and femmes, organized in partnership with Transgender Law Center's Black Trans Circles and have organized another Freedom Schools in 2021, building the capacity of developing leaders in understanding the root causes of the violence they face and creating projects to address these causes. We are engaging 10 participants nationally. We continued our Political Education series which occur on a monthly basis reaching hundreds of community members and allies. to draw connections between criminalization, xenophobia, homo/transphobia and anti-Blackness. We co-led efforts, along with the Anti Police Terror Project (AFTP) to defund the Oakland Police Department (OPD). This year we managed to work with local partners to defund OPD by $10 million. BLMP immediately responded to the abuse of Haitian migrants at the border. We partnered with other migrant justice groups on press statements and social media campaigns, alerted and mobilized our membership, and joined with partners such as Haitian Bridge Alliance, UndocuBlack, United We Dream, the Movement for Black Lives, and dozens of others in calling on the Biden administration for a number of specific actions and policy changes. These include: halting deportations and ending the use of Title 42 at the border and at all points of entry; enacting wide-scale humanitarian parole for Haitians; defunding and divesting from DHS, ICE, and CBP; investing in humane, holistic immigration. We filed a formal complaint about operations of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the conduct of DHS's officers and agents in and around Del Rio, Texas, along with 45 other social justice organizations, requesting an immediate dialogue with CRCL staff about a variety of serious violations of migrants' rights documented by advocates and attorneys on the ground in Del Rio with whom our organizations have been closely in touch. We collectively drafted the Dignity Not Detention statement, denouncing the inherent anti-Blackness happening in Del Rio, and demanded all deportation flights to Haiti and other Black countries to stop immediately and demanding that the Biden administration grant Haitians seeking asylum humanitarian parole. We co-planned and participated in the "RISE UP FOR BLACK MIGRANTS! NO MORE DEPORTATIONS!" Press Conference, Rally, March, and Twitter Storm in Solidarity with Haitian Asylum Seekers at the Border on Monday, October 4, 2021, to demand an end to President Biden's inhumane mass deportations of Haitian asylum seekers. We continued to speak out, mobilize, and advocate by engaging in Haitian Bridge Alliance's national day of action on October 14, 2021 in support of people from Haiti, Black migrants, and all immigrants fleeing persecution and seeking a better life, and by engaging BLMP local organizing hubs across the country to engage in various organizing tactics to illuminate the issue and further move decision-makers

BORDER BUTTERFLIES PROJECT: With a little over a year of experience doing this work???even under the challenging conditions created by the COVID-19 pandemic???the Border Butterflies collaborative project brings a unique and unparalleled understanding of the challenges that LGBT migrants are facing at the border and on entry into the U.S., and the solutions that are needed, both in terms of practical services and support for individuals and in terms of policy and systemic reforms. LGBT migrants were highly vulnerable even before the xenophobic policies of the last four years, so we cannot simply push to reverse the worst of Trump???'s policies. Our collaborative work, experience, and voices are critical at this moment as we seek to assist vulnerable individuals at the border and as the U.S. works to re-envision its immigration and asylum policies and systems in a more humane and inclusive way. This project draws on the complementary knowledge and experience of an array of collaborating partners (funded at various levels) to provide the mix of legal and humanitarian supports and resources that LGBT migrants need while in Mexico, on crossing the border into the U.S., and once in the U.S. (whether in detention or on release). Transgender Law Center provides legal coordination via a full-time attorney and other legal support, a legal office in Tijuana, limited humanitarian aid in Mexico, fiscal sponsorship, and grant management for the project. Familia: Trans Queer Liberation Movement provides full-time project coordination, focused on supporting program participants in detention, immediately upon release, and post-release, as well as coordinating organizing efforts within the collaboration. National Immigrant Justice Center provides immigration attorney services. Casa Arcoiris and Jardin de Mariposa provide housing/shelter to LGBT migrants. Casa Arcoiris is also providing some wraparound services. Refugee Health

Alliance/C1??nica de salud y justicia provides LGBT-competent medical services to migrants awaiting entry into the U.S., and has played a key role in this work in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic on top of regular medical services. Haitian Bridge Alliance brings essential additional support for Black LGBT migrants, who are less likely to ???come out??? before they are in detention and less likely to use LGBT-specific shelters. Transgender Law Center and Familia play overarching coordination roles to ensure the collaborative functions smoothly and effectively, and bridging the legal and humanitarian aspects of the work on both sides of the border. In its first year, the project established its services and infrastructure and provided accompaniment to more than 120 migrants in spite of the unanticipated challenges posed by COVID-19 and constantly changing U.S. immigration policy.

POLICY & ORGANIZING: The national TGNC Coalition of BIPOC TGNC activists and leaders has been meeting regularly and engaging in power mapping and campaign development, as well as planning for both near-term and longer-term membership expansion to help translate the vision and guidance of the Trans Agenda for Liberation (<https://transgenderlawcenter.org/trans-agenda-for-liberation>) into action. COVID delayed much of the planned 2020 launch of the Trans Agenda. In February 2021, we successfully re-launched the full five pillars of the Trans Agenda, coordinating the launch with an op-ed in Teen Vogue (<https://www.teenvogue.com/story/the-trans-agenda-for-liberation>) that included our specific policy demands of the Biden-Harris Administration to help operationalize the Trans Agenda. We established a partnership with Teen Vogue to include feature articles about each of the five pillars and highlight the work of a trans or nonbinary visual artist who expresses the vision of each pillar through their work.???In addition, for Pride month, along with developing TLC???'s Pride messaging framework for 2021 in collaboration with TLC's National Strategy team, our Digital Media Manager Xoai Pham also collaborated with TransLash Media and the POC Zine Project on a joyous Pride Month Zine (<https://translash.org/zine/>) highlighting the 5 pillars of the Trans Agenda for Liberation.

COMMUNICATIONS - Addressing Violence: TLC also began exploring new ways to address anti-trans violence across our movement building and legal work. For example, TLC's Communications Team began work on an ambitious series of reports called The Roots of Anti-Trans Violence. These reports use homicide data in all 50 states and Puerto Rico collected between 2017 and 2020 to examine the root causes of the violence that trans people face and hold up community-led solutions to ending this violence. The four resulting reports focus on Texas, Louisiana, New York, and Puerto Rico, which are among the places disproportionately impacted by trans homicides. TLC's Digital Media Manager secured a media partner, Autostraddle, for the report launch, which included digital visual explainers and social media images for sharing. The reports launched on Trans Day of Visibility (March 31, 2021). TLC's National Organizing Team and Communications Team have been monitoring murders of trans people on an ongoing basis. The National Organizing Team has had a much higher demand for rapid response support in response to murders.

POSITIVELY TRANS: Positively Trans: T+ Steering Committee members have used monthly calls to share what they are working on and to strategize together and share skills around challenges they are experiencing. Recognizing that trans people living with HIV have been a particularly vulnerable community during the HIV pandemic, and that leaders in local communities have been dealing with their own challenges and trying to support their communities, TLC's Positively Trans (T+) program has invested in providing additional supports (stipends and care packages) to our Steering Committee members across the country, as well as ensure that our staff have time to provide needed moral support, all of which has been deeply appreciated by the organizers with whom we work. Steering Committee members have continued to build their leadership and take on new challenges. Building on the model of community needs assessments organized by T+, Arianna Lint of Arianna???'s Center has been working with the University of Puerto Rico on a needs assessment of trans people living with HIV there. Evonne Kaho in Mississippi has just completed purchase of a property to become a shelter for trans people. Tori Cooper, of Georgia, has been named to the President???'s Advisory Council on HIV & AIDS (PACHA). We developed and facilitated an HIV & Aging Plenary for National Social Workers Conference on HIV/AIDS. We also developed and facilitated the Trans Plenary for HIV is Not a Crime 4. Steering Committee members Tiommi Lockett and Tori Cooper emceed the Welcome and Closing Plenaries respectively. We also participated in the PLHIV strategic planning and now at the final stage of the PLHIV Policy Agenda. T+ Founder Cecilia Chung presented during two sessions at the International AIDS Conference this summer. In addition, she was an opening speaker for the UN High Level Meetings on HIV & AIDS in June 2021.

GENDER JUSTICE LEADERSHIP PROGRAM/TRUTH: Working in partnership with GSA Network, we have sustained our virtual leadership development program for trans youth leaders across the country via the TRUTH project. Over the last few months our team has been focusing on supporting trans and nonbinary youth leaders as they have been targeted by dozens of state-level bills (a few of which have become law) challenging their ability to participate in school sports and to access gender-affirming healthcare. In the recent period our opponents have ramped up their strategy of simultaneously attacking reproductive rights and trans communities, specifically young people through a frame of ???parent rights??? which goes even further creating a combined attack on reproductive rights, trans rights, racial justice (critical race theory) and covid-19 mask protocols. The potential for pitting movements against each other and using trans rights to undermine other movements is even greater than before. In this context, TRUTH participants are uniquely positioned to make sure that TGNC youth are not just talked about but instead have a meaningful voice in public debates that affect them. TRUTH intentionally creates the resources that help these youth spokespersons to feel safe and supported in this political context. Thus, we created responsive programming to support youth in the states where such bills have advanced, including organizing a virtual convening and spokesperson training. We have organized collaborative listening sessions with national partner organizations and trans youth; created accessible policy education for trans youth trying to understand the impact of these bills while learning about the legislative process as well, and holding community and open space for youth affected by these bills/laws and needing to have community solidarity. TRUTH leaders have been clear that centering hope continues to be critical, so TLC worked with TRUTH to create a loving and affirming series of messages to share including new #LoveLettersToTransPeople. In response to the stresses TGNC youth were experiencing because of the COVID-19 pandemic, we have also been providing enhanced support to TRUTH Council leaders during the pandemic, including through our collaboration with the National Queer and Trans Therapists of Color Network and care packages we sent to support self-care. Our 15 TRUTH leaders attended monthly meetings and a variety of events, including the TRUTH Council Kick-Off in March, and virtual gatherings in July and September, and participated in campaign building and strategy for the GSA Day for Gender Justice in November 2021. At the beginning of June 2021, grounded in the expertise of the youth leaders we support, GJLP released No Pride Without Trans Youth, a community report zine that outlines what trans youth saw, felt, and learned this legislative session. GJLP also organized a series of conversations around this zine on Instagram Live. Our work to keep the pedal to the metal and demand that our allies center trans youth leadership also took shape in a Teen Vogue column Trans Youth on What They Wish Lawmakers Behind Anti-Trans Bills Really Understood (<https://www.teenvogue.com/story/trans-youth-what-they-wish-lawmakers-anti-trans-bills-understood>) and conversation with Global Citizen 'Just Trying to Live': Trans Youth Speak Out Amid Rising Anti-LGBTQ+ Legislation??? (<https://www.globalcitizen.org/en/content/trans-youth-anti-lgbtq-legislation/?template=next>). Also, building on our previous messaging work, we partnered with ASO communications on creating a queer/trans race class narrative to make states safe for trans youth. This included a series of focus groups and an online dial survey to help identify successful messaging approaches. We will hold a series of movement and community briefings to share this messaging. Furthermore, we are adding on to this promising research with some additional testing at the intersection of anti-critical race theory and trans rights. TLC also sits on an advisory board for messaging research led by NARAL on religious refusals ??? TLC is the only trans led group at this table. In addition, we launched Roses, a new leadership initiative for trans girls of color. Our first cohort includes 5 core girl leaders. Most of them are experiencing housing and/or food insecurity, and so in addition to building community, we have also helped to support them to meet basic needs.

DISABILITY PROJECT: While many of our original approaches have shifted, the Disability Project has been effective in lifting up the leadership and collective capacity of disabled, Deaf, and ill LGBTQ people in multiple ways. Our presence at the Anti-Eugenic Gathering in the fall of 2021 also ensured that our voices and stories were included in this historic gathering, which sought to re-work, break silence and highlight the centennial anniversary of the original US Eugenic gathering held in New York City at the Museum of Natural History. Sebastian and Ericka were joined Akemi Nishida, Assistant Professor, Disability and Human Development at U. Illinois, Chicago, to comprise the DJ team and ensure it was appropriately grounded and guided by access, anti-ableism and disability justice content and politics. Under the leadership of our Community Advisory Board member Cara Page, we worked behind the scenes to ensure the violence, experimentation, erasure and exploitation of disabled individuals and communities a direct result of eugenics beliefs and practices was visible and acknowledged in this moment of resistance and reckoning. We helped co-facilitate and design an invite-only movement strategy huddle and training at the gathering supporting cross-disability, BIPOC-led, queer/trans and allied representation. Sebastian participated in a panel presentation exploring Trans and Queer Eugenic Legacies. We have also invested in developing a digital media strategy to further lift up queer and trans disabled, Deaf and ill voices, issues, and ideas; and launched work on a Trans Disabled People's Survey. Both of these are discussed in the next section below. In response to the challenges posed by COVID-19, the training plans shifted to a virtual model that took advantage of our connection with the Ford Foundation's BUILD program. We expect that the virtual training approach will ultimately help us to grow a faculty that is bigger than the project's Community Advisory Board (CAB) and be able to pay people with particular expertise to be doing this work remotely. This allows us to build and connect in important ways with a broader array of disabled leaders, while providing acknowledgement and compensation for expertise.

The gain is not only for the workshop participants, but in the disability community as well. Working with BUILD staff, we identified approximately 3 dozen BUILD grantees to invite, and held two day-long trainings, integrating disability justice and modeling access, in the fall of 2021. The trainings were very well-received, with strong, positive feedback on the pace, the facilitation style, the way information was made digestible, and the way the training's values were manifested in how it was conducted. The initial curriculum included a baseline introduction and framing of access and accommodations as connected to disability justice politics, analysis, and lived experience of oppression, as well as a live conversation between Ericka and CAB member Syrus Ware, moderated by TLC Communications staffer K. Richardson, on the connections between anti-Black racism and ableism. The training closed with small group work to explore disability specific language slurs as hate speech, their roots in eugenic ideology and practice and its current locations, in relation to disabled TGNC and marginalized communities. In addition, Ericka and Sebastian designed and delivered an intermediate level disability justice training to a group of 12 strategic Roadmap consultants providing needed capacity building to infuse foundational level disability political analysis and familiarity with key DJ politics, principles, and practices. We have also worked with Funders for Justice, exploring how we could best provide intermediate-level training on disability justice strategy and tactics to their staff and board members to enable this progressive philanthropic organization to center disability justice within its core principles. We are excited to continue to work with Funders for Justice in this effort.

partnership with the Black LGBTQIA+ Migrant Project) which launched in September 2021 and will continue into March 2022, and laid the groundwork for an additional cohort in Texas. The BTC cohort in New Orleans continued to meet quarterly and to provide healing space, information, and opportunities to stay. In the wake of Hurricane Ida, TLC has also sent disaster relief funding to BTC participants to help support them as they grapple with the storm's extensive aftermath. In our communications, we have also lifted up local relief/mutual aid efforts that support/are inclusive of trans people (cont'd from Page 2) Our cases have been consolidated, and the government has indicated it is beginning to identify documents that address our requests. End Trans Detention (in partnership with BLMP, Mijente and Familia) hosted a series of events across the US during Pride month and created a dedicated shared webpage (<https://www.endtransdetention.org/>). In our class action lawsuit on behalf of all trans women in the Colorado prison system, we are working with co-counsel to organize and analyze the tens of thousands of documents produced by the defendants in discovery. We also continued to advance our efforts to hold ICE and its contractors responsible in the death of trans Honduran migrant Roxsana Hernandez while in ICE custody. In May 2021 we filed for leave to submit a second amended Federal Tort Claims Act complaint. In the criminal defense case we are co-counseling, in which the defendant is charged with murder for killing her trafficker in self-defense, we have been able to file three separate experts reports on trauma and trafficking. We have also, unexpectedly, been approached by Fair & Just Prosecution, a progressive prosecutors' group, and have discussed areas of common interest in reducing criminalization and decriminalizing sex work. TLC's legal Helpdesk responded to 1,168 requests for assistance and our Prison Mail Program responded to 684 requests.

cont'd from Page 2 BLMP organized our 2020 pilot Fierce Freedom School for 12 Black trans women and femmes, in collaboration with Transgender Law Center, bringing together migrant and U.S.-born Black trans women for two months of weekly, virtual leadership development. As this took place during the initial uprisings in response to George Floyd's murder and in the context of a number of murders of Black trans women, we were able to lift up the voices of participants on social media and in the press at this critical moment. We launched the BLMP Garifuna Committee, engaging members of this Afrolatinx community with its own culture and language, especially in New York, New Orleans, and Houston. This network rapidly grew from fewer than 20 participants to more than 60. We collaborated in successful efforts to create a public fund in Houston for migrants at risk of deportation to get free legal representation. In the context of COVID-19, we distributed more than $200,000 in mutual aid to vulnerable Black LGBTQIA+ migrant community members. BLMP designed and implemented the first national survey of Black LGBTQIA+ Migrants. Despite the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, we collected 300+ surveys and are preparing to publicly launch our findings.

cont'd from Page 2 In April 2020, with co-counsel, we filed a class action suit demanding the release of all transgender detainees because of ICE's failure to keep them safe during the COVID-19 pandemic. The case was ultimately dismissed because all but one of our named defendants were released from detention. The remaining defendant was deported despite the efforts of her immigration attorneys. Our advocacy on the case made a real difference in securing the release of our named plaintiffs. In July 2020, TLC submitted an extensive comment opposing the administration's proposed asylum rule which would make it almost impossible for any asylum seeker to be eligible for asylum. We focused on the real-life experiences of project participants from the LGBTQ+ border project in which we collaborate to highlight the horrific impact of this potential rule. TLC is also serving as a plaintiff in Immigration Equality et al. v. U.S. Department of Homeland Security, challenging this rule. With the border project, we drafted a 40-page affidavit on the catastrophic impact this rule will have. In January 2021, the judge issued a preliminary injunction for the entire rule nationwide. We also continued to advance our efforts to hold ICE and its contractors responsible in the death of trans Honduran migrant Roxsana Hernandez while in ICE custody. In order to preserve liability of all possible actors who were responsible for Roxsana's care, in May 2020 we filed a complaint against all companies who contracted with ICE and had Roxsana in their custody. We brought 21 counts against these companies for violations of the Rehabilitation Act, state-based negligence claims, negligence per se claims, negligent hiring, retention, training, and supervision claims, and intentional infliction of emotional distress claims because the FTCA does not apply to contractors. We have continued to add co-counsel, take steps to secure evidence from ICE and various contractors, and identify expert witnesses.

Healthcare Access: In July 2020, with the National Women's Law Center, the Transgender Legal Defense & Education Fund, the Center for Health Law and Policy Innovation of Harvard Law School, and law firm Hogan Lovells, TLC filed suit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts to challenge the Trump administration's June 2020 rule undermining the Affordable Care Act's protections which prohibit discrimination in health care on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, disability, and sex—including pregnancy, gender identity, and sex stereotyping.

Identity Documents: In May 2020, Indiana Legal Services, Inc., Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund, the Law Office of Barbara J. Baird, and TLC won an important victory on behalf of two transgender immigrant clients who had been seeking legal name changes. A Court of Appeals of Indiana unanimously held that a state

name-change law does not require a petitioner to be a U.S. citizen to change their name, making it now legal for all people in Indiana to change their name regardless of their immigration status. TLC took the lead in a detailed amicus brief in the appeal of an Oregon case about nonbinary gender markers on IDs. JH petitioned their local court for an order recognizing their nonbinary gender in April 2019. The judge denied JH's petition in an order that evinced clear misunderstandings about nonbinary people, trans people, intersex people, and the relevant law. In June, the Oregon Court of Appeals ruled in favor JH's right to a nonbinary gender marker. To our knowledge, this is the first state appellate court decision to say that lower courts can and should issue nonbinary gender change orders even where the statute doesn't explicitly mention a nonbinary option. Employment, Housing, and Public Accommodations: TLC was thrilled at the victory against employment discrimination secured in June 2020 at the U.S. Sup
